The graph shows the data rate (MB/s) for different activities. The activities include WiFi throughput (TCP), WiFi throughput (UDP), File system I/O (Write), and File system I/O (Read). The data rate for WiFi throughput (TCP) and (UDP) is significantly lower compared to the File system I/O activities. The File system I/O (Read) has the highest data rate, indicating a significant difference in performance between different tasks.