JSTEPS is arranged so that entry is on the left side of the screen; the program then completes the behavioral contract. The contract (right side) lets the person know the progress (hands up or down) and sets dates.