Global average available biocapacity per person. (This must also include the needs of wild species.)

Threshold for high human development

Circle size is proportional to population of selected countries

Global Sustainable Development Quadrant