(a) and (b) show images of cell cultures under different conditions.

(c) is a time-course experiment showing the development of cell morphology over 24 days for different treatments: Control, DSL peptide, and N4 Ab.

(d) is a bar graph comparing the percentage of spheres and branched structures across different treatments, with Error bars indicating variability.