I would support my ICU participating in a nationwide randomised control trial (RCT) of SDD.

My concerns about antibiotic resistance limit my willingness to participate in future RCTs of SDD.

I would be more likely to participate in a RCT if mortality is the primary end-point.

I would be more likely to participate in a RCT if a cost-benefit analysis was included.

I would be more likely to participate in a RCT if it included pre-, during- and post-trial monitoring of antibiotic resistance in patients in the RCT.

I would be more likely to participate in a RCT if patients in the control arm received VAP bundles as usual care.