Our proposed method can also assess the quality of the peptide with a higher ratio. For example, we use one 4:1 sample to test our quality control method, and get the following results,

The MA plot shows that this 4:1 sample does not concentrated well, this may caused by the quantitation method. In this case study, only our proposed method makes the CV smaller. So that our method is also reliable for higher ratio samples.