Additional File 3.

A. Principal Component Plot – Cotyledon samples

B. Principal Component Plot – Leaf samples

Principle Component Analysis was done using the DESeq package by calculating a variance stabilizing transformation from the fitted dispersion-mean relation and then transforming the normalized count data (Anders et al. 2010). The percent shown on the axes indicate the proportion of variance for that principal component.