500,000 reads are sufficient for low variance estimates of AGS for most metagenomes. MicrobeCensus was run using between 10,000 and 20 million randomly sampled reads from 8 HMP samples (one per body-site). At each sampling depth, we performed 100 bootstraps in order to estimate the amount of dispersion (i.e. variability in AGS estimates).