Level of interest: A paper whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests

Advice on publication: Accept after discretionary revisions

The authors still have one reference to "late lumen loss" that needs to be revised to "decreased lumen diameter" or even better, "difference in lumen diameter"; it is in the figure legend for Fig. 3. Other than that, although I still have some minor misgivings about the paper, it is suitable for publication in your online journal.
