Reviewer's report:

Thank you for this informative manuscript. In my view the description of the design process of a dementia case management intervention helps those readers most who consider the development of such an intervention on their own.

The research question is well defined, the methods well described. The structure of the paper is adapted to the standards for reporting, which is noteworthy as the development of a complex intervention is not as straightforward as research questions usually are.

In my view especially the tables, which represent the results of the study are of great value and should not be shortened.

In sum I suggest to accept the manuscript without any revisions.
