Reviewer's report:

I would tend to support publication, and the reviewer who supports this view. I would make the following comments; however.

The terminology "Company Physician" is new to me. I suspect this a Netherlands specific role. This highlights the fact that it will be difficult to generalise the findings outside the Netherlands. The discussion should reflect the fact that this study is specific to the Dutch health system, and that different patterns of care and different systems in other countries could produce different outcomes.
