Title: Granulocytic sarcoma of the pancreas: A case report and review of the literatures

Version: 1 Date: 31 January 2010

Reviewer: Simon R Bramhall

Reviewer’s report:

This is a brief report on an unusual disease occurring in the pancreatic head. I believe that it is worthy of publication but the standard of English is a little poor and would benefit from editing by somebody with English as their native language.

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published

Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.
