Reviewer's report

Title: Acute portal vein thrombosis precipitated by indomethacin in a HCV-positive elderly patient

Version: 2 Date: 11 September 2012

Reviewer's report:

I have reviewed with great pleasure the new version of the manuscript. In my opinion, all the major and minor suggestions have been very well addressed. It would have been very good if the authors would have included in their manuscript the ancillary tests and investigations associated with this case. However, I believe that the article is publishable as is. I am confident that it will provide an excellent study material for those interested in this field.
