Title: Telling partners about chlamydia: how acceptable are the new technologies?

Version: 2 Date: 3 February 2010

Reviewer: Matthew Hogben

Reviewer's report:

I don't have any more suggestions for the paper. It's still clearly written, and the revisions I suggested are either in the paper or, if not, justifiably excluded. I believe there are US data emerging on the present limits of SMS, text messaging and so forth in PN, so this paper's conclusions are timely. I shall be interested in the long term trends.
