Title: Seroprevalence of Toxoplasma gondii and associated risk factors among pregnant women in Jimma Town, Southwest Ethiopia

Version: 1 Date: 6 October 2012

Reviewer: Eskild Petersen

Reviewer’s report:

This is a well written report with a clear and concise presentation of the results.

Major revisions
From the results section and the results presented in the table it is clear that the study subject participated in an interview or filled out a questionnaire (even though illiterate). This is not described in the methods and materials section, and the questionnaire could be published as a supplementary material.
