Title: Clinical aspects and self-reported symptoms of sequelae of Yersinia enterocolitica infections in a population-based study, Germany 2009-2010

Reviewer’s report:

This manuscript is interesting and brings some new information about sequelae, hospitalisation and antimicrobial treatment of Yersinia enterocolitica infections.

I have only two minor essential revisions:

1. In the abstract, the conclusions should be rewritten. They should be focused on the results obtained in the study. The second conclusion is not based on the results and should be omitted.

2. In the conclusion part, the authors should add some more conclusions from the own study. The two last sentences fit better in the discussion part.
