Title: Inside the labyrinth of postpartum fever: Sphingomonas paucimobilis sepsis associated to pyomyoma

Version: 1 Date: 31 August 2013

Reviewer: CHRISTOS IAVAZZO

Reviewer's report:

This is a very interesting presentation of a rare entity. The manuscript is well written. Major changes should be published. We suggest the addition of a table presenting the till now published cases of pyometra in pregnancy or postpartum including the etiologic factor, presentation, management, and follow-up. This should be further discussed in the discussion of the manuscript including a discussion of the conservative and surgical treatment options.

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published

Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.
