Title: Epidural Abscess Caused by Streptococcus milleri in a Pregnant Woman

Version: 2 Date: 11 September 2005

Reviewer: josef finsterer

Reviewer’s report:

The manuscript has much improved from the changes made. However, the following minor points should be addressed:

P5.2nd par: Change “An MRI ….” Into “An MRI of the thoracic spine….”

Add some information to the case description about the outcome of the child

Also add information about the long-term outcome of the patient. Did the abnormalities at dismissal completely resolve meanwhile?

What next?: Accept after discretionary revisions

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field

Quality of written English: Acceptable
