Reviewer's report

Title: Single nucleotide polymorphisms in thymic stromal lymphopoietin gene are not associated with allergic rhinitis susceptibility in Chinese subjects

Version: 3  Date: 28 August 2012

Reviewer: Denise Daley

Reviewer's report:

There is a sentence in the statistical analysis section that needs to be revised. The third sentence starting with the data were filtered by additionally assessing the (should be a space between assessing and the) similarly there should be a space between after and setting later in the same sentence. Other than this minor correction I feel the authors have appropriately responded to previous comments made by the reviewers and have been careful to present the limitations of the study.

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests

Quality of written English: Acceptable

Statistical review: Yes, and I have assessed the statistics in my report.