Title: Life-threatening gastrointestinal bleeding during targeted therapy for advanced renal cell carcinoma: a case report

Version: 2  Date: 27 March 2013

Reviewer: fable Zustovich

Reviewer’s report:

- Introduction row #2: "overall survival has improved". Most data available are on PFS and is not clear if OS can be really affected by drugs even if it is likely, I would damp that statement.

- Introduction row #5: the statemente that temsirolimus has important clinical activity in previously treated patients need to be supported by references.
