Reviewer's report

Title: Is there an association between elevated or low serum levels of phosphorus, parathyroid hormone, and calcium and mortality in patients with end-stage renal disease? A meta-analysis

Version: 2 Date: 22 March 2013

Reviewer: Julia Scialla

Reviewer's report:

Preliminary results of a simulation are alluded to in the results section, but not adequately described in the methods. I would either add more detail, if available, or remove this section.

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests

Quality of written English: Acceptable

Statistical review: Yes, and I have assessed the statistics in my report.
