Title: Hyponatremic Hypertensive Syndrome (HHS) in Children Presenting as Malignant Hypertension: Case Report

Version: 2 Date: 5 February 2004

Reviewer: Kenneth Jureidini

Reviewer's report:

General: This is worth publishing as a single case report. The second case is not required to make the important point of the paper. The paper needs editing, for punctuation, abbreviation and correction of English.

Major Compulsory Revisions (that the author must respond to before a decision on publication can be reached): Leave out the second case. There is too great a difference between the physiology of an eighteen month child and a seventeen year adolescent. This is compounded by the lack of information about the second case.

Minor Essential Revisions (such as missing labels on figures, or the wrong use of a term, which the author can be trusted to correct) Correct the English grammar and punctuation, using the opportunity to provide abbreviation of the text.

Discretionary Revisions (which the author can choose to ignore)

What next?: Unable to decide on acceptance or rejection until the authors have responded to the major compulsory revisions

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published
