Reviewer’s report:

The authors have considered and incorporated the feedback into the revised article with additional detail in their response letter. I am now satisfied that it is appropriate for publication, following a minor discretionary revision.

Discretionary Revisions

Although the authors have incorporated the feedback on selecting a more informative title, the revised title is awkward. Following is a more succinct suggestion:

Sex differences in self reported long term outcomes following moderate to severe traumatic brain injury.

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field

Quality of written English: Acceptable

Statistical review: Yes, and I have assessed the statistics in my report.
