Title: Angiolymphoid Hyperplasia with Eosinophilia Occurring in Bilateral Eyelids

Version: 3 Date: 25 April 2013

Reviewer: Shantha Amrith

Reviewer’s report:

Minor essential Revisions:
Background: First paragraph
The reported cases of ALHE occurring in the eyelid were unilateral [4, 5].
Conclusion is too long. The heading should actually be Discussion.
The last 2 lines namely, “ALHE may occur in the bilateral eyelids, albeit rarely. It is necessary to include ALHE in the differential diagnosis of an eyelid mass.” should be the conclusion.
