Minor Essential Revisions
There are still some grammatical errors but this is much improved.
The manuscript would be enhanced by the inclusion of more textual extracts to back up the statements in the Findings section.
On p8, the authors suggest that the diabetes team members 'inspired a feeling of confidence and ability among the family members'. They cannot know this unless they interview the family members!
Is the checklist 'an evaluative tool'? (p18)
p20 - how do the researchers know that 'parents never hesitate to contact them' - please omit.

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.
