Major Compulsory Revisions
None

Minor Essential Revisions
1. Referring to line 62, the sentence implies that all children in the study used assistive devices, however I am not aware of assistive devices for ADHD per se. If it is meant that the children used assistive devices for another disability and also have co-morbid ADHD then perhaps that could be clarified.
2. Line 66, there appears to be a typographical error preceding the number 18.
3. Table 2, there appears to be a typographical error preceding the number 10 in the last line.
4. It will be helpful to indicate method of test analysis, such as indicating that the method of repetition was used to identify themes. Additionally, it will be helpful to indicate the method used to code text such as cutting and sorting. Discretionary Revisions
1. A suggestion to present data from Table 1 in text form only, thereby deleting this table.
