Title: Psychosocial outcomes of children with ear infections and hearing problems: a longitudinal study

Version: 2 Date: 19 February 2014

Reviewer: Rosa Calvo

Reviewer's report:

Methodological limitations in the study are acknowledged by the authors and so has been the importance of their findings. It is still an interesting paper that proves the importance of parental concern about hearing issues in the screening of future psychopathology.

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field
