Reviewer's report

Title: Internet-based cognitive behavior therapy for obsessive compulsive disorder: A pilot study

Version: 2  Date: 21 July 2011

Reviewer: Seth Gillihan

Reviewer's report:

The authors have responded satisfactorily to all of my suggestions. It's a great contribution to the field of OCD treatment research.

Major Compulsory Revisions: None

Minor Essential Revisions:

Just a few proofreading notes, especially because the manuscript won't be subjected to a subsequent round of copy editing:

- p.7: First full para., second line, delete "shown to have"
- p. 7, same para., third line from end: "GAF has" should be "GAF have."
- p. 9: "stencil" I believe should be "pencil" in two instances.
- p. 11: First full para., 6th line: add "ly" to "clinical"
- p. 11, same para, 7th line: criteria should be "criterion"
- p. 13, first text line: consider adding [58] after "Jacobson and Truax criteria" to reference the citation
- p. 14: line 6, "criterion" for "criteria"; first full para., line 7, "therapist have" for "therapist has"; line 8, delete "the" before "therapist"
- p. 15: line 4, revise to read "face-to-face therapist and also the opportunity to increase..."; next para., "analysis was not significant"
- p. 16, line 12, "have" for "has"
- p. 17, "EA was mainly" (add -ly) ... "all patients" (add "t"), "writing the treatment."
