Title: Tardive and Spontaneous Dyskinesia Incidence in the General Population

Version: 2 Date: 31 March 2013

Reviewer: Xiang-Yang zhang

Reviewer's report:

I have the following points/concerns that should be addressed by the authors:

1. The introduction does not review the literature fully. Some important references regarding TD have not been cited. Moreover, most of the cited references are out of dated.

2. The authors need to describe the methods in more details, for example, what antipsychotic drugs had been taken and what doses, the duration of antipsychotic treatment. Similarly, what dose, duration of treatment with metoclopramide?

3. The TD and SD were identified by ICD-9 codes, but not by the regular diagnostic criteria by the AIMS.

4. There is a large discrepancy between the rates of TD and SD in the current study and previous studies. The authors did not provide the reasonable explanations.
