Title: The relationships between perfectionism, pathological worry and generalised anxiety disorder

Version: 2 Date: 6 November 2013

Reviewer's report:

From my viewpoint, the authors correctly implemented all the 4 modifications requested by the editor. The strength of the paper is the exploration of the role of perfectionism in generalized anxiety disorder (GAD). I think that the paper increases or knowledge of both perfectionism as a psychopathological mechanism and of GAD as an emotional disorder influenced by cognitive factors, as clinical perfectionism is.
