Reviewer's report

Title: Young women's decisions to accept Chlamydia screening: influences of stigma, doctor-patient interaction and morality.

Version: 1 Date: 18 March 2010

Reviewer: Sally Maliski

Reviewer's report:

This manuscript deals with an important issue, has defined questions well and chosen appropriate methods in the use of a qualitative design. Results are well-presented and supported.

Major Compulsory Revisions: In the introduction, the author mentions a screen controversy followed by a sentence fragment to See Low. The authors need to briefly describe the controversy and cite Low. Also, the form of qualitative method used needs to be identified and cited.

Minor Essential Revisions: There are a number of grammatical, sentence structure, and grammatical errors throughout the first part of the manuscript. The Results and Discussion read better.

Discretionary Revisions: There is much discussion interwoven with the Results which is acceptable in reporting qualitative work. However, it would be helpful if this was acknowledged at the beginning of the Results section.

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published

Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.

Declaration of competing interests:

I declare that I have no competing interests