Title: Understanding community perceptions, social norms and current practice related to respiratory infection in Bangladesh during 2009: A qualitative formative study.

Version: 1 Date: 4 October 2011

Reviewer: Saidur Mashreky

Reviewer’s report:

I appreciate authors for conducting a good study to explore the perception of people regarding respiratory tract infection in Bangladesh.

However before publishing the article following concern need to be addressed -

Methodology need to more detail specially the analysis section.

Regarding result section
Information in the result section is not reader friendly. Therefore the result section needs to be reorganized according to different theme such as how infection spread, causes of infection, preventive measures etc.

Conclusion need to be more concise considering the result and discussion.
