Reviewer's report

Title: Chlamydia screening in England: a qualitative study of the narrative behind the policy

Version: 1 Date: 23 November 2011

Reviewer: Christopher K Fairley

Reviewer's report:

I am not an expert in qualitative research- so I’d suggest you get advice from someone in this area.

In relation to other aspects of the paper, it makes an important contribution to the science in an important area of policy development. It is right for the UK to question their decision in this area- and to systematically work through the evidence to date on the program. It is a well written paper achieves it aims. I have no changes.

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field

Quality of written English: Acceptable

Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.

Declaration of competing interests:

'I declare that I have no competing interests'