Reviewer’s report

Title: Oral health status and behaviours of preschool children in Hong Kong

Version: 1 Date: 18 May 2012

Reviewer: Raman Bedi

Reviewer’s report:

This is an important paper which shows the rise in early childhood caries in a country/region which has been fluoridated for a number of decades. Early childhood caries is a global public health problem and the data supporting this statement is slowly emerging. This paper will add significantly to that debate. The paper is well written and the research adequately undertaken.

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field

Quality of written English: Acceptable

Statistical review: Yes, and I have assessed the statistics in my report.