Title: Reintegration of child soldiers in Burundi: A tracer study

Version: 5 Date: 9 October 2012

Reviewer's report:

The changes that have been made in the manuscript have addressed my main concerns. The qualitative study that the authors are currently undertaking will provide some very interesting contextual information to complement the work presented here. I think that a paper which presents the qualitative and quantitative work together would be stronger than the quantitative analysis alone - however, the paper as it stands provides useful information which will contribute to the field.

I am not recommending any additional revisions, I feel the paper is ready for publication.
