Thank you for the opportunity to read this manuscript. This is a well written piece of work that offers significant insight into the diabetes related knowledge of the general population of Mongolia. The manuscript makes for interesting reading and should be of interest to those working within diabetes in Mongolia and transferable possible to countries in similar development. The paper is well laid out and easily read. There are a number of areas where words are not spaced appropriately with one word often leading into another without a space. These need to be spaced appropriately.
