Title: Prevalence of intestinal parasitic infection and risk factors among schoolchildren in University of Gondar community school, Northwest Ethiopia: a cross-sectional study

Version: 4 Date: 7 January 2013

Reviewer: Peter Steinmann

Reviewer's report:

The revised version of this manuscript is of considerably improved quality compared to the original. It is evident that the authors attempted to consider all comments put forward by the reviewers.

The authors have made genuine efforts and have satisfactorily addressed most comments put forward by this reviewer. However, there remain a series of mistakes (mainly spelling) in the manuscript, and few recent references are cited. In the attached scan, the most important/blatant mistakes have been corrected by hand, and a few comments are inserted directly at the relevant position. I hope the authors find this useful.

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published

Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.
