Title: Factors influencing the choice of transport mode for short distances in older adolescents: a qualitative study

Version: 1 Date: 16 January 2013

Reviewer: Jorge Mota

Reviewer's report:

This a well conducted study following a methodological strategy that fits its purposes. My only comment is related towards the specific context (Belgian-Antwerp) where the study was carried-out once the choice of cycling as a active transport is due to geographic environmental conditions (flat) and this should be acknowledge on either discussion or conclusion.
