Reviewer’s report:

Minor Essential Revisions
The manuscript improved considerably, and I have only two suggestions to the authors:

1) To describe in more detail what the results mean of figure 1; because there are three distinct results, and the authors point out only one. I believe that a description of the other results is also interesting;

2) lack the authors stress the importance and which future studies can be developed from these results. It highlighted the limitations, but the authors should highlight the strengths of this study as well.

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests
