Minor Essential Revisions:

1) I would like to ask Authors a clarification about data collection: In "Methods" (second paragraph) they used two different sources: medical record and death certificates. I have noticed that information about educational level were collected only from death certificates, doesn't it produce a lack of information about survivors during the analysis, even assuming a direct correlation between distance metastases and worse outcome?
I think this is a bias, and must be declared in the limits.

2) In "Discussion", second paragraph, I think the word "brazil" must be written with capital B
