Reviewer's report:

I have tried to go through the paper. It needs serious revision for it to be considered as a publication. The study is great I should say, and relevant. However, the author was too verbose leading to at a times, straying from the subject at hand. The methodology is not clear, maybe the problem again is that they overstated issues which didn't need to be. The results are ok. However, use of the odds ratio is not fully understood. (odds ratio vs relative risk). There are some results which are unnecessarily stated in the text when there is a table to show them. Would say, rewrite the introduction, methodology and results.

Tried to correct some of the stuff but there were too many to correct completely
