Title: Asian-White Differences in Short Sleep Duration by Industry of Employment and Occupation in the US: A Cross-sectional Study

Version: 3 Date: 15 April 2014

Reviewer's report:

The authors have done a good job of responding to my previous comments. In reviewing the revised manuscript, I have just 2 concerns that I think still need to be addressed:

1. There are still a few grammatical errors. For example, there is an "a" missing on p. 14 in the sentence "...was found in prior study..."; on p. 16, there is an error in verb tense in the sentence "...may have also influence the ability..."

2. The numbers in Table 1 should be re-checked because some of the "Total" results in the last column don't make sense based on the stratified results in the other columns. For example, how can the prevalence of short sleep among all workers "living in poverty" (37%) be higher than the prevalence among either Whites (32%) or Asians (35%)?

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published

Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.
