Reviewer's report

Title: Using Intervention Mapping to develop a programme to prevent sexually transmittable infections and HIV among heterosexual migrant men.

Version: 3 Date: 8 May 2007

Reviewer: Daniel Edward Wight

Reviewer's report:

General
The authors have made very thorough revisions, greatly improving the article. I recommend publication, once further minor revisions are completed.

Major Compulsory Revisions (that the author must respond to before a decision on publication can be reached)

Minor Essential Revisions (such as missing labels on figures, or the wrong use of a term, which the author can be trusted to correct)

a) The whole paper should be checked for correct English grammar, paying particular attention to the use of plurals and plural possessive pronouns.

b) The first reference to 'behavioural determinant theory' (p.3) should clarify that this is a term for a group of theories (plural).

c) On p.11 the authors should reconsider second use of 'safe sex' rather than 'unsafe sex'. I understand that the young men made statements about safe sex. However, the second reference to 'safe sex' refers to negative consequences of UNsafe sex. It seems most unlikely that an STI or unwanted pregnancy occurs as a consequence of safe sex.

Discretionary Revisions (which the author can choose to ignore)

What next?: Accept after minor essential revisions

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published

Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.

Declaration of competing interests:
I declare that I have no competing interests.