Reviewer’s report

Title: Acculturation does not necessarily lead to increased physical activity during leisure time: a cross-sectional study among Turkish young people in the Netherlands

Version: 2 Date: 4 July 2007

Reviewer: David Berrigan

Reviewer’s report:

General Global patterns of migration make it important to understand how health behaviors change among immigrants. This paper describes how physical activity changes in turkish immigrants to the Netherlands. It's neat because the authors are able to identify some key moderators of the association between physical activity and acculturation. These results should help guide the thinking of health promoters and point the way towards a more sophisticated understanding of contextual effects on behavior.

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Major Compulsory Revisions (that the author must respond to before a decision on publication can be reached)

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Minor Essential Revisions (such as missing labels on figures, or the wrong use of a term, which the author can be trusted to correct)

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------

Discretionary Revisions (which the author can choose to ignore)

-------------------------------------------------------------------------------

What next?: Accept without revision

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field

Quality of written English: Acceptable

Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.

Declaration of competing interests:

'I declare that I have no competing interests'