Title: Changes of Hormone Replacement Therapy in Menopausal Women: An Observational Study in Taiwan

Version: 3 Date: 22 November 2006

Reviewer's report:

I think that the paper is worth publishing and gives interesting information. It does still have some (minor) deficiencies, including those listed by the referee (Ringa), but I do not think they are so serious to cause rejection. The authors have taken the comments seriously and done the required changes. The main message is clear, and the paper gives enough detailed data to allow readers to pick the potential problems and judge the adequacy of conclusions.
