Reviewer's report:

General comments:
The manuscript “What influences a patient’s decision to use custom-made orthopaedic shoes” is improved a lot. In my opinion the authors succeeded in making a clear message. Also because of the reduction in words the manuscript is more condensed and better readable.

The only small comment is on the answer of the authors that because of privacy restrictions the authors had no insight in the number of invitations sent by the companies.

Although I will respect this statement of the authors, I cannot understand this because in my opinion the number of sent invitations has nothing to do with the privacy restrictions!

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests

Quality of written English: Acceptable
