Reviewer's report

Title: Intraprostatic injection of botulinum toxin type- A relieves bladder outlet obstruction and induces prostate apoptosis

Version: 1 Date: 17 February 2006

Reviewer's report:

In my view this paper makes a significant contribution to the literature but I can well understand one of your reviewer’s objections. The group would be well advised to make full acknowledgement of work on which their study is based. I would describe it as “cursorory” as it now stands. I suspect references to published work in this area is incomplete.

In my view it should be stated what the criteria in Taiwan are for the use of human subjects and animals in research studies of unlicensed treatments
