Reviewer's report

Title: Clinical features, predictive factors and outcome of hyperglycaemic emergencies in a developing country.

Version: 3 Date: 22 January 2009

Reviewer: Moses S Elisaf

Reviewer's report:

The manuscript has been substantially improved. However, as the authors point out there are still several concerns that the authors can not answer. Even though the topic is quite interesting, the presentation of the study results and the discussion are still incomplete.

Level of interest: An article of importance in its field

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published

Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.
