Title: Factors influencing dental care access in Jordanian adults

Version: 2 Date: 22 August 2014

Reviewer: Mohammad Al-Omari

Reviewer's report:

- The study represents a scientifically sound research that addresses an important issue. It is a well conducted epidemiological survey that has brought relevant information regarding the dental care access amongst the Jordanian adults. The study question is original and well-defined.

- The study data are sound and well controlled. All the variables related to dental visits and dental services use have been taken in account.

- The discussion section is clear and so detailed. All the study findings were addressed, comprehensively discussed and interpreted with reference to other relevant work. References were provided by authors whenever necessary. Conclusions drawn from the study are valid and relevant to study data and findings.

- Study Methods are well-written. The materials and methods used were appropriate to the study question. They are clearly described and provide enough details that allow other researchers to replicate. Statistical analyses are correct and relevant to study questions and data. Study limitations were clearly stated and addressed by the authors.

- The manuscript is well-written in scientific way that is appropriate and acceptable for publication. Data are well presented in tables. The tables are self-explanatory and well-formulated.

- The title of the study is concise and appropriate to study question. The abstract accurately conveyed and summarized the findings of the study.

- All the references that the authors used were well-documented and cited by the authors.

Discretionary revision:
In the introduction section, few studies have been discussed along with their data analysis such as studies of Kakatkar and Al-Shammari et al. I suggest including them in the discussion or edit their inferences deleting the data.

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests
Quality of written English: Acceptable

Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.
