Title: Awareness, use and associated factors of emergency contraceptive pills among women of reproductive age (15-49 years) in Tamale, Ghana

Version: 2 Date: 13 June 2014

Reviewer: Ifeanyichukwu Ezebialu

Reviewer's report:

Major compulsory revisions
1. Abstract: ECP is not the only method of emergency contraception as stated by the author.
2. Results / Tables: It is not clear how the authors assessed "Availability" and "Affordability" among the respondents. They should specify clearly how these were assessed.
3. Discussions: The authors should discuss their findings properly, giving possible explanations for their findings instead of repeating the results.

Minor essential revisions
1. Discussion: The referencing style on lines 253 and 254 are not consistent. Please, revise.

Level of interest: An article whose findings are important to those with closely related research interests

Quality of written English: Needs some language corrections before being published

Statistical review: No, the manuscript does not need to be seen by a statistician.
